...making DOOM revolution...

ORODRUIN - CLAW TOWER... AND OTHER TALES OF TERROR (PSY 013)

Hello, you are the grand owner of this new collection of songs by Orodruin. This is a step back into our roots as a band and how we've formed into what we are today. Included in this release is our very first demo, "Sons Of Nature" from Jan 1999 which was recorded when our average age was 18 years old. Even though you may hear some occasional doom elements this is firmly delivered as old heavy metal, which has been compared to the NWOBHM in the few reviews we have had. Oh yeah, if you are wondering, those wretched vocals belong to me. (John Gallo)

Our second demo included is actually two songs taken from the original master of the "Epicurean Mass" recording sessions. The main difference is the sound of the guitars, the vocals, and some leads, or lack there of. The vocals we're not nearly as good as on the final album, but it was Mike Puleo's first stab at singing which is quite surprising. The new material included on this release is no holds barred, total raw mind crushing doom! Everything was recorded on our own equipment the entire month of February 2004. Look at it like a "new" demo of Orodruin if you will. The new track, "Claw Tower" is a powerhouse of pure doom that will shatter your skull and make you hallucinate in broad daylight. Also included is a "live" version of "Unspeakable Truth", a cover of "Stand Up and Fight" by Quartz, and a remake of "Creation Through Death" from our first demo. In Doom, John Gallo.
